THE FACTS Every British Columbian is encouraged to take an active part in the 1975 Winter Festival. The positive benefits of participation are many. Whether your special interest is in the development of fitness through sports; or the nurturing of talent in a branch of the arts; or exhibiting your skill as a craftsman; or the enjoyment of family recreation activities, the appropriate community programme must be created to meet that special need. A great many such programmes do exist, but many more are needed. Those are the facts.

THE OPPORTUNITIES The British Columbia Winter Festival offers community leaders in recreation, sports, performing arts, fine arts, crafts, and other organizations, a 26-day, mid-winter period when they can showcase their programmes to great advantage. Each event or community programme that files a submission and receives sanction by the British Columbia Festival Office reaps the benefits of local, regional and provincial promotion through newspaper, radio and other forms of mass communications. Colourful Certificates of Participation are provided for all who take part in the provincewide Winter Festival. Creating good community programmes is worth telling people about. Those are the opportunities.

THEULTIMATE Community Festivals, that encompass the broadest possible agenda of indoor and outdoor activities, and utilize all available facilities over a period of days or weeks, are the ultimate objective. Many communities are organizing total participation programmes as part of the British Columbia Winter Festival right now. Getting it all together in your community would be the ultimate.

THE TIME Now. That's right, now is the time to think, to plan, to organize in your community. The Winter Festival goes into print on November 15, 1974. SUBMISSIONS MUST BE IN THE FESTIVAL OFFICE BY NOVEMBER 15, 1974 Take the time to write for information and submission forms today. Now is the time.

Soviet Sales Lost To Grain Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) Most of the U.S. wheat des-tined for the Soviet Union as the result of talks in Moscow last week would normally have been bought from Canada, a U.S. agriculture depart-ment expert said Monday.

Richard Bell, deputy assistant-secretary of agriculture, said Canadian harvest and shipping problems forced the Russians to seek U.S. wheat.

Bell told a news conference that Moscow normally buys wheat for populated areas of the Soviet far east which are deficient in grain, rather than ship it thousands of miles from the Russian bread bas-

Liberal Ghost Riders

It was billed as the Great Liberal Roundup but there are still a lot of ghost riders in the sky. The party convention in Vernon at the weekend endorsed David Anderson, gave women a larger role in serious party doings and blasted errant Liberal MLAs Dr. Pat McGeer and Allan Williams for even thinking of leaving the party fold. In other words, the usual introspective navel gazing that all political parties indulge in to boost their esprit de corps.

But the Liberals remain a question mark in provincial politics. Its corporal's guard of five MLAs, the third largest party in provincial politics, is the perennial 'next year" party that will overcome the extremes of left or right in British Columbia. Social Credit and NDP party cant dismiss the Grits as a covey of wealthy urban lawyers who won't face political realities. This view received added credence when two fifths of the party caucus flirted with the discredited Unity Party earlier this year. With such a background of internal disarray Mr. Anderson's

Now? contains an element of

But if a tendency exists to sell the Liberals short in B.C. David Anderson often gets even less credit. While many opposition politicans were trading in philosophies with wild abandon, Mr. Anderson stuck to his guns. The Liberal party was not going to be part of any free enterprise coalition. Now he believes that disenchanted NDP voters, who can't stomach the Social Credit alternative, will turn in droves to the middle-of-the-road Liberals. He may be right. But as Bill Bennett leads his reluctant party into the centre too, Mr. Anderson may find little elbow room in the middle

A small "l" liberal naivete still seems to pervade the party's pronouncements. "The Liberal party will fight on in B.C." begins the party news release. And the eight federal Liberal seats - some of them from heavily unionized areas which the party won in B.C. in the last general election are considered a harbinger of good tidings on

Vernon speech entitled Whither the provincial level. It is dangerous to compare apples and oranges, especially when it becomes increasingly obvious that many people voted Liberal in the federal election simply to defeat the Conservatives' promised wage and price

> If the Liberals improve their standing in the next provincial election it will be the result of broadening their narrow political base. This has been said time and time again, but the party still oozes a West Vancouver mentality that apparently turns off many voters. Pat McGeer tried hard to change the image; David Anderson is also doing his best, spending most of his time in the hinterlands trying to line up strong candidates - something the party has consistently lacked in past campaigns. A stronger centrist party is needed in B.C. There is little doubt about that as the old gladiators keep bashing each other with boring regularity and little effect.

> But the Liberal ghost riders have some hard riding ahead if they hope to put a little flesh on all those old bones.

Having suffered the gall of a relatively-narrow electoral defeat, the party now has been exposed to public ridicule by the clumsy activities of the executive of the 1922 committee, to which all Tory backbenchers belong.

This executive, which has no legal existence until again voted on in the new parliament, has been scuttling in and out of secret meetings to discuss whether Heath must go, at one point fleeing back inside a bank by the fire escape door, like schoolboys caught smoking, when they realized press photographers had

Turning Off Immigration Tap

OTTAWA - The revised immigration policy soon to be announced is expected to reduce the flow of newcomers while retaining, as the prime minister insisted on Wednesday, selection criteria based on the principles of universality and non-

According to some reports the gov ernment is taking restrictive action not because the present inflow is unmanageable but because projections based on present trends are alarming. In any case it seems clear that Manpower and Immigration Minister Robert Andras is worried about the impact of immigration on the labor market, especially when there is an expectation of substantially greater unemployment this minister is traditional and is no doubt influenced by the traditional fears of the labor unions. Andras may anticipate indeed he has already heard objections to restriction based on past experience particularly experience with the tap theory. What may be rather different in the current situation is the wide disparity in regional attitudes, with the West suffering at the moment not from a surplus but from a scarcity of labor and

Chairman of 20

A restrictive policy, however, would be open to another criticism. It would be an obvious contradiction of the leadership which the government is attempting to provide in another field.

The world economy, as John Turner has repeatedly warned, is in a "fragile state." Unless effective remedial action can be taken at the international level economic distress may well destroy the foundations of the political order, not only in the third world but in south Europe as well. To avert these dangers the International Monetary Fund has created an interim committee of 20 ministers with Turner as chairman.

There is a particular aspect of this situation to which the minister of finance has called attention, most recently in his speech of October 9 in Parliament The world-wide surge of inflation has been greatly aggravated by the four-fold increase in petroleum prices.

Within a short space enormous revenues have accrued to oil-rich nations with a very limited capacity to absorb the production of oil-consuming countries. A "recycling" problem of unexampled magnitude has been created. As John Turner said: "The resulting increase in the current account deficit of both developed and developing nations together with cumulative debt charges creates massive balance of payments problems that jeopardize the international monetary system and international financial institutions unless fair and efficient means can be worked out to recycle funds from oil producers to oil consumers on terms they can afford to

IMMIGRATION BROCHURES . no longer true picture?

In those last words, however, is the rub for many countries. "That is a prob lem for the industrial world," the minister continued, "but it is an even more serious problem for the developing world where we potentially have a catastrophic situation because of the price of food, fertilizer; oil and manufactured goods. This is now out of reach for two-thirds of the world's population, and will remain that way unless we and other nations do something about it."

What is needed is the re-investment of these huge surpluses but, in the natural course, investment will go to opportunities offering the best rewards. These are much more likely to be found in countries such as the United States, where the need is least, than in nations such as Italy, where the situation is already precarious, or in the undeveloped countries where it is even worse.

Long before the oil price crisis, south European nations relied heavily on the export of workers to the prosperous north. Some relief was also afforded by emigration to countries such as Canada. There are signs that with emerging difficulties in the labor market both these flows will be restricted. In the case of emigration, it is happening already. Indeed, one of the arguments for a more restrictive Canadian policy is that people will turn here because they can no longer look hopefully to Australia, New Zealand, the United States, Britain and

Mr. Turner is going about his work with a sense of urgency. Even if his nittee does well, however, it is not likely that the crisis will be easily or quickly resolved. Meanwhile, the emigration escape valve is being closed at exactly the wrong time by countries which traditionally welcome newcomers We have been warned that there is danger of overkill in national responses to inflation. That danger also exists in respect to immigration.

How Much Restriction?

How much restriction Andras has in mind, we do not yet know. It is obvious, though, that it is much easier to write the principle of non-discrimination into regulations than to ensure discrimination in practice. Conditions vary so widely that some nationals those of countries in the worst plight are bound to have greater difficulties than others in meeting criteria based on education and job skills.

What is needed now is international action in a variety of fields to overcome the crisis. It is unrealistic to suppose that Canada can maintain an open door policy when doors are closing everywhere else. But there has been no suggestion as yet that we are exerting leadership in this field. On the contrary Andras appears to be following others in self-protective action. The minister of finance is moving in one direction; the minister of manpower, from all present indications, in another. It may be that the matter will appear in a different light when Andras makes his announcement. From appearances of the moment, Lady Storm Trooper

The SONY Dolbyized Stereo Cassette Deck

Sony proudly presents a quality Dolbyized deck complete with Ferrite & Ferrite head - the Sony TC-131SD. Moderately priced, this new Sony cassette deck provides smooth, reliable performance and faithful sound reproduction thanks to two advanced features. One is the Dolby* noise reduction system - a two-way device (record and playback) to substantially improve the quality of cassettes by reducing annoying background hiss. The other is Sony's new Ferrite & Ferrite head - an extremely hard head for long life and high performance. In addition, there are dozens of features that make top quality recording and playback unbelievably easy: a high performance limiter recording system combines the advantages of manual recording with the safety of automatic recording, a tape selector switch for optimum results from normal tape or chromium dioxide tape plus automatic capstan disengagement and push-button return in all modes at the end of the tape. The Sony TC-131SD's clean professional styling is an exercise in function. Sony engineers a complete line of cassette decks, but to really appreciate them you have to hear them. At your Sony dealer.

tary government was rocked Peru, and the Peruvian Red Monday by new denunciations Cross. of a multimillion dollar swindle involving state-owned corporations that have allegedly cheated millions of Peruvians out of scarce food supplies.

Interior Minister Gen. Pedro Richter Prada charged that employees of the state-owned food marketing corporation, Epsa, were using foreign currency intended for the purchase of food to import luxury products on Amazon river boats and sell them in hotels and boutiques in Lima.

His was just one of a string of week-long accusations re-leased by the government, which has reported that more than $115 million has been swindled by state companies and has ordered 72 state emplovees to jail.

Most of the charges have been leveled against Epsa, a bureaucratic giant created by the six-year-old reformist mil-Juan Velasco Alvarado.

Epsa's purpose was to enavailable in this South American country, and it runs a state monopoly in the coffee, rice and imported wheat trade. It also runs a chain of 16 supermarkets and buys and been formally accused of discontinuous development agency to make long term, low interest loans to secondary industries.

Since last week investigators have issued summonses against 91 executives of Epsa and arrest orders against 72 of them. Included are all members of the boards of directors in its five years of existence, three military of-ficers on active duty, and a former vice president of Peru.

According to the charges made public so far, officials of Epsa took farm products subsidized by the government for cheap sale in Peru and smuggled them into Ecuador, Bolivia and Chile, where they were sold at high prices.

According to other charges, corrupt officials collected rake-offs on stiff commissions charged by coffee producers collaborating in the swindle. Other swindlers diverted Peruvian currency to private businesses and sent dollars abroad to "shadow companies" in the United States, prosecutors said.

Double Attack On Alberta For PWA Deal

nadian Transport Commision intends to take the Alberta government to task over the manner in which it acquired Pacific Western Airlines Ltd. last August, CTC chairman E. J. Benson indicated Monday.

He told the Commons transport committee Alberta did not inform the CTC of its intention to purchase the Vancouver-based airline and as a conver-based arrine and as a result no public hearings into its proposal were held. However, the CTC subsequently has obtained legal opinion that the Alberta government does meet the defini-tion of a "person" and has no-tified it that it wants the province to follow the normal practice set out in the act.

This means CTC will request the province to notify the commission of its intent and possibly to attend public hearings at which other com-panies that might be affected

'Relaxed' Economic Policies Claimed Answer to Stagnation

VANCOUVER (CP) — Too much anti-inflationary restraint by the world's well-off industrial nations could lead to widespread economic stagnation, Swedish Prime Minister Olof Palme said Monday.

In an address to the Canadian Club, the prime minister urged "the industrial countries with strong positions" to relax their policies of restraint or shift to expansionary

The potential inflationary effect of a more expansionary policy, he said, could be neutralized through fiscal measures with direct impact upon prices. Elaborating later in a news conference, Prime Minister Palme said the fiscal measures he was proposing should include selective price controls, such as those used in Sweden but no wage controls.

Countries like the U.S. which have tried price (and wage) controls, he said, have not continued the price controls long enough. He said he advocates price controls of a long-term nature, with government subsidies where called for to agricultural production to keep food prices down.

Palme was in Vancouver the final day of a five-day Canadian visit. After his speech and news conference, he made a tour of the Vancouver area, ending with a reception at the Swedish hall, before leaving by air for Sweden.

While there is no doubt that hundreds of millions of people live in sickness, illiteracy, undernourishment and misery, it is also true that human reason can find solutions.

"If the belief in rational thinking diminishes," he said, "we are really in trouble, because rational thinking has always been a cornerstone for progress."

Palme said worldwide inflation, dramatically enlarged by the energy crisis, must be fought. But, he added, "it would be very unfortunate if nations facing these problems would overreact."

What is the right gasoline for your car?

Regular? Unleaded? Or Premium? Gulf would like to help you choose.

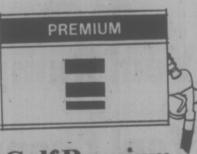

Unleaded

Unleaded Gulf Futura is our newest gasoline. It costs a few cents more than Good Gulf Regular. It is the right gasoline for all 1975 cars equipped with catalytic converters. Futura helps reduce exhaust emissions, increases spark plug life and substantially extends the life of muffler systems. Even if your car doesn't have a catalytic device, unleaded Futura will still give you these benefits. Futura also meets manufacturers' specifications for most cars manufactured since 1971. COMPLAINTS FELL YOUTH HANG-OUT

A group of Royal Oak youths has lost a hang-out for sniff-ing glue, drinking and smoking marijuana. The meeting place was Saanich's old dog pound property on Greenlea Drive.

Parks administrator Frank Andrews told council Monday the former dog pound — known by neighborhood youths as "the dog house" had been smashed down and the site cleared after a complaint was received from Lyle Garraway, principal of Royal Oak junior high school. In addition, council received a protesting petition, organized by Thomas Clarke of 755 Greenlea.

"As school principal I am concerned about the bad influence such an area adjacent to the school could have on the youngsters," Garraway told council.

He said youths had built a shack which had been used for runaways. Garraway said there had been evidence of gluesnifting, drinking and the smoking of marijuana but thick bushes in the area had made it difficult for police to control

In the petition, Clarke said the area had become a fire hazard in the past two years and its use for illegal purposes had never been "so blantant as this summer."

'Frontier' Wells Cost Much More BALD

Arden R. Haynes said Canada has the potential to be selfsufficient in energy produc-tion for hundreds of years but tion for hundreds of years out solving future energy prob-lems is going to be very cost-by. In some cases, the techno-logy needed in the oil industry has yet to be developed.

Canada now produces more oil than it uses but assuming moderate demand increases and discoveries, the country will become a net importer of oil early in the 1980's.

If that happens, the cost of importing oil could climb to $2 billion a year within six or seven years, producing a

Bringing a "frontier" oil well in Canada's Arctic or deep offshore into production costs 15 to 20 times as much as a traditional well and can take eight to 15 years.

So the oil industry and governments in Canada must begin now to settle the ground rules if the massive financing needed for future oil production is to be attracted, the senior-vice-president of Imperial Oil Ltd. said in Victoria Monday.

Serious balance of payments situation, he said.

At the moment Canadian wells produce about 2 million harrels a day 20,000 to 300,000 barrels a day in excess of what the country uses. Energy Supply in Canada Cause For 'Real Concern'

TORONTO (CP) — Harry S.
Ostrander, president of Sun
Oil Co. Ltd., said Monday energy supply in Canada is a cause for real concern.
He told a meeting of the Toronto Board of Control that Canada has self-sufficiency in energy today but by the early 1980s it could be forced to import about 250 million barrels of oil annually.

Ostrander said oil fields

"Our tests proved that we had developed a highly efficient production line for factory-built homes. And at our selling price, there was a strong market potential. But we needed financing for land, equipment, and enlargement of our plant. And of course we had to be concerned about working capital."

"It was only natural that we go first to RoyNat. We had used their funds six times in ten years, for such things as consolidating our business interests, modernizing equipment, and for the acquisition of another firm. On several occasions RoyNat had also leased equipment to us, which helped us conserve working capital when we needed it most."

"RoyNat has always responded quickly to our needs, and this housing venture was certainly no exception. Their representative wasted no time in getting approval for the financing we needed."

"Within a very short time, our sales have quadrupled, and RoyNat has contributed a great deal to that success. Their people are specialists and very knowledgeable.

Hockey: Two Overlays For The New Patsies

A new week, and hey! Has anyone noticed who's on top in

A new week, and hey! Has anyone noticed who's on top in the National Hockey League? New York Islanders, Vancouver Canucks, Los Angeles Kings, Toronto Maple Leafs. Those are the shocking facts in the sports headlines. Sure, it may not last, but think of the odds. And now that the National Hockey League and its counterpart, the WHA, are fair game in the betting halls at Vegas, it might be worth while to get something going.

Jimmy 'The Greek' Snyder has developed some brand of new patsies, the hockey fans of America. He's added ice hockey to his stable of sports and for anyone looking for a flutter, it's all down in black and white.

It's a new publication called "Jimmy 'The Greek' Snyd-

Intuer, it's all down in black and white.

It's a new publication called "Jimmy 'The Greek' Snyder's 1974 Hockey Handbook" and it's on the mould of the other sports he dabbles in — basketball, baseball, football, and the gee-gees. His office will quote odds on most major events, and he has a vast system of scouts, experts and advisers to assist him.

He doesn't necessarily always have to be right, either, to make a buck, because that is done by the oddsboard and if Barnum was right "a sucker is born every minute", who ever heard of any gambler or odds-maker, giving his pigeon a better than even chance.

Anyhow, right now, Jimmy isn't too far from being half wrong, which may or may not last. Because if you're dropping by Vegas and care to make a wager, here's what's on the odds board for the NHL.

The Habs Running Sore

Philadelphia is 4-5 to win its division, Montreal 1-2, Chicago 3-5 and Boston 2-5. So the Habs are clearly a top pick, no doubt deserve to be, but now are in deep trouble. The Bruins are rated the solid ones, started slowly as well, but are coming on. Chicago has also been moving up after a tardy start, thanks to two shutouts by Tony Espositio. And Philadelphia is right there as well in its division and seemingly in no difficulty.

But what of the upstarts? Certainly they deserve some atent what of the upstarts? Certainly they deserve some attention. New York Islanders, should they hold on to prevail, would prove remarkable indeed. More to the point, they would pay off at 100-1. Closer to home, there are the newly amazing Canucks. They are unbeaten in their last four, and all on the road—a remarkable feat for them.

The Canucks are also two points clear of second-place. This each is their division and home for six yames—a dandy.

Chicago in their division and home for six games

Los Angeles, actually, is a surprising 8-1, but more to the point, they are playing like it; and if the Habs continue to falter it wouldn't be out of line to suggest L.A. could be the upsetter of the year. Toronto is highly rated, too, and can be had for 5-1; but after Satur their stock may have dropped a trifle.

The longest prices on the board? It figures. There's a three-team tie between the two new clubs, Kansas City and Washington, and downtrodden Oakland (make that California). All are listed at 250-1, which means no chance at

Where The Price Is Right

The biggest strockers? Canucks and the Kings, for sure. The biggest stockers? Canucks and the Kings, for sure. The Las Vegas odds list Phil Maloney's men second to last in their division, behind Obicago, Minnesota (4-1), and St. Louis (20-1). So they are quite an overlay, especially if they can continue to play up to their new-found capability. And that trade, three for four, didn't hurt either, Canucks obviously getting the best of the bargain already, plus the extra player. So how well does "The Greek" pick 'em? Well, better than most, but not truly exceptional. I checked the past three weeks of his National Football League picks, a syndicated feature he sells to several newspapers and radio stations and.

weeks of his vaccional rooman rooman feature he sells to several newspapers and radio stations and, if he hasn't been all wrong, he hasn't been that great either. Actually, he has no better a record than happened in the of-fice pool the last few weekends. He had 11 results wrong out of 39, plus the fact he missed the point spread on five other which means that anybody buying his recent results would be hard put to break even.

Which means that anybody buying his recent results

In hockey, he's picked the obvious. Don't we all? And regardless, he isn't likely to be hurt. In Vegas the odds are stacked for the house, and the house rarely loses.

Still, at 8-1, the Kings appear worth a tumble and, at 50-1, the Canucks are definitely worth a second look as well. In racing parlance, these are the two price horses in the field.

Life Term for Youth

Seventeen-year-old Kenneth Osbourne was sent to jail for "life" Monday for murdering his girlfriend's father.

The five-day trial ended in B.C. Supreme Court when the jury returned a verdict of murder, bearing the mandatory penalty of life imprisonment, which means parole cannot be considered for at least 10 years.

Osbourne admitted he had shot George Edwin Miller, 45, of Sooke, last Feb. 15, and the eight men and four women on the jury were told they had a choice of finding the accused guilty of murder, or of manslaughter, depending on whether they agreed there was extreme provocation or reasonable doubt.

The verdict was delivered in a tensely emotional courtroom after 81/2 hours of deliberation.

Defence counsel Lloyd McKenzie pointed out in his ar guement to the court the discrepancies between stories told by Osbourne and by Gayle Miller in describing the events

McKenzie said the girl, also 17, had been "characterized as a liar by her brother" in testimony last week, and noted she had not volunteered to police anything of what had happened Feb. 15.

Counsel said her veracity was on trial and to accept her version as truth would be "a dangerous game."

Osbourne told the court Friday he shot Miller at the girl's request, and that she had put the rifle in his hands following what she described as improper advances made to her by her father. He also said he and a friend plotted Miller's death on an earlier occasion and had lain in ambush for him with a knife and metal bar.

Mr. Justice Walter Kirk Smith told the jurors in order to find Osbourne guilty of non-capital murder they must be satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt the Crown had proven the accused intended to cause death or bodily harm sufficient to kill Miller

The 32-page bilingual book-National Grants" ("Subventions voyages-echanges") outlines the conditions under which such grants are available. It points out that all Travel and Exchange programs generally involve homestays' in the community.

There are three types of projects The Reciprocal Exchange Program which encourages cultural and personal exchanges among citizens groups from different regions of Canada; Voluntary Service grants for groups willing to provide such services to a community requesting them and grants for groups who want to visit the National Capital Region. Such visits must be for at least five days.

According to the booklet, any non-profit citizens' group may apply for a grant, but the economically disadvan-taged and the mentally or physically handicapped will be given priority.

You will also find guidance how to plan a project that may become eligible for a Travel and Exchange Grant. The application must be sub-mitted at least three months before the project is to begin.

Race-Intelligence Issue Cools Off

LONDON (UPI) - A Lot of the heat has gone out of the controversy over whether Ar-thur Jensen of the Institute of Human Learning at Berkeley, Calif., was right when he declared some races inherit more intelligence than others.

Three or four years ago any symposium on the subject might have led to violence. But only a handful of young seientists peacefully picketed the institute of biology recent-ly when it discussed the theme "racial variations in

They handed out a leaflet which said: "It is disquieting that an extremist like Arthur Jensen should be invited to project his ideas among serious biologists."

Jensen was among the sci-entists who attended and he repeated the results of the rerepeated the results of the re-search he has conducted at the University of California— that the influence of heredity and, environment is in the ratio of 80-20 and some races are less well-endowed genetically than others.

"Attempts to explain dif-ferences in intelligence be-tween American blacks and whites on other than genetic grounds do not stand up to ex-

Impossible, you say, no human being would be forced to exist under such a condition in today's enlightened and concerned' society. No human being? Consider the intelligent, severely handicapped adult; an active mind locked for life in a disabled body — a battered house. Fortunately, with today's medical treatment and technology, most of our basic physical needs are cared for. Education is also provided and we learn of the outside world, to appreciate all its wonders, its beauties. Our minds are developed to their minds are developed to their fullest potential as well. TOMORROW - ANOTHER GREAT DOUBLE BILL "POSEIDON ADVENTURE and "S.P.Y.S." Bowie chose the billing
David Bowie and the Garson Band and selected the members of his nearly allblack group. Besides Michael Garson, who was appointed musical director and is the conty musician to survive the only musician to survive the band's last four incarnations, the new lineup includes drum-mer Dennis Davis, Emir Ksasan on bass, guitarists Carlos Alomar and Earl Slick, Pablo Rosario on percussion, Charles Brown and Dave Sanborn on saxophone, and backup vocalists Luther Vandross, Anthony Hinton, Diane Sumler, Robin Alomar (wife of Carlos), Ava Cherry and Jeffrey MacCormac.

Is success ruining Uriah Heep? The group has worked 48 weeks a year to achieve its five gold albums and sellout concerts, and that might be a bit much for organist Keith Hensley: "I'm a musician and the only thing I seem to be seeing around here are dollar seeing around nere are doubt signs . . After my first solo album ('Pround Words on a Dusty Shelf'), there were two or three prominent people in the business who told me I'd be better off on my own. I just said, 'Rubbish, I'm not going to run away.' But it's such an uphill battle . . . It reaches a point where you wonder why you keep putting other people first and stifling your musical beliefs."

George Harrison is giving away the profits (estimated at $100,000 for at least one of the $100,000 for at least one of the concerts) from several tour appearances to a spectrum of organizations: San Francisco, the Haight-Ashbury Medical Clinic; Long Beach, Calif., the Seif-Realization Fellowship Fund; Washington, D.C., the United Negro College Fund; New York, the Institute of Religion and Health; and additional funds will go to the Appalachian Regional Hospitals.

Break-ups: Robert Fripp has split up King Crimson, after five years, seven albums and frequent personnel changes. Fripp will spend a quiet year in Dorset, England, and Crimson bassist and vocalist John Wetton will tour with Roxy Music . . . Ken Blechel, who played with but was never permanently signed to Stories, has left the band to back up Peggy Lee on keyback up Peggy Lee on key-

When today's deal was played in a team-of-four match, both South declarers arrived at the same game contract via an identical sequence of bidding. But there was a parting of the ways in the play of the hand.

When the deal was played the first time, East played the diamond seven on West's opening lead of the king. West then continued with the diamond acc, East completing his high-low signal by dropping the deuce. West next led the 10 of diamonds. Declarer now took a "time out" to analyze the situation.

The question in his mind was, of course: who had the queen of trumps, East or West? He finally concluded that it was, West. So declarer ruffed the third diamond lead with dummy's 10. As is evident, East overruffed with the queen. He then cashed the ace When the deal was played queen. He then cashed the ace of spades, for the setting trick.

When the deal was re-played, the West defender also opened the diamond king against South's four-heart contract. As his counterpart had done, he next continued with the diamond ace, after which he led the 10 of diamonds. But this declarer decided that East was the possessor of the queen of trumps. So he ruffed the third diamond lead with dummy's diamond lead with dummy's king of trumps, as East discarded a low club.

He then led the 10 of trumps, and when East followed suit with the seven, he played the deuce from his own hand, finessing against East's hoped for queen. When the 10-spot won the trick, another trump was led, East's queen falling to South's ace. From here in declarer's only loser was a spade trick.

It seems to me that our first declarer was wrong in trumping the third diamond lead with dummy's 10 (hoping that West had the queen of trumps). With West almost certain to have a six-card diamond suit (based on East's high-low signal) East, with 11 unknown cards (exclusive of two diamonds) rather than West (with seven unknown cards) rated to have been dealt the queen of trumps.

Teachers Gather In City

Nearly 1,000 B.C. teachers will be in Victoria Friday and Saturday for the annual fall conference of the provincial Intermediate Teachers Association.

Topic of the conference is involvement in curriculum, which teachers will examine in workshops and meetings at S. J. Willis junior secondary school and Blanshard elementary scrool.

Speaker at the opening session will be Dr. (Stanley)
Knight, newly-appointed director of research and development section of the education department.

He will be one of nearly 65 speakers, including authors of well-known textbooks, at the conference.

Fall Flowers in the Pink

Two of the finest of fall gar den plants have bright pink flowers and bloom here during the period from early Sep-tember until well into No-vember. The names are os'-til-is).

. The roots of schizostylis and the bulbs of nerine were plen-tiful in Victoria from 1945 to 1960 but I seldom see them in gardens now. You will have to enquire from specialist grow-ers as to where they may be bought today. At one time, I saw ten different species of nerine thriving in an unheated

The hardiest of the nerines is probably N. bowdenii. It will live for years in the same garden spot if top dressed annually with compost just after flowering in fall, and given a couple of light feedings in early April to be utilized while the leaves grow in early while the leaves grow in early need to be almost dry in the soil until August when a good watering helps to get the flower stems started into growth.

Nerines bloom in clusters on the top of a 10-inch bare stem. Each flower resembels a refined, small amaryllis, to which they are related. The color of Nerine bowdenii is rich pink deepened by a dark lies down the centre of each line down the centre of each petal segment. The edges petal segment. The edges are slightly waved.

the south and west sun-reached them at an angle below the branches.

Schizostylis has a fleshy root system, and belongs to the Iris family. It dislikes a wet scil in winter more than nerine, so plant the fleshy root (which looks like couchgrass roots) into a sandy leafy soil.

If the site is protected by dense shrubs on the northeast to prevent hard freezing of the soil so much the better. A further loose surface mulch of dry leaves before freezing weather is a help.

dry leaves before freezing weather is a help.
Schizostylis coccinea is the scarlet flowered type plant, looking like a miniature gladiolus in bid, but flowers open out flat and roundish. Leaves are narrow and soft. Hardier than S. coccinea is a fine pink form named "Mrs. Hegarty" which flowers profusely from September to Christmas, or after when winter mas, or after when winter lacks hard frosts and freezing winds. This is the one which

Since the leaf growth starts in spring and continues all summer while flower stems are forming, schizostylis

From April to October, give plenty of water, with a surface mulch of compost to avoid baking of the soil between soakings. The greatest enemy is the gardener who thinks each sharp bladed leaf thinks each sharp bladed reat e merging is couchgrass, promptly pulling it out with its piece of white pointed root attached. It does indeed re-semble couchgrass, making it necessary to mark the place with a permanent label and a circle of flat stones as a warn-

Woman Welshes On Bid

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Mrs. William Von Weise says she didn't really mean to bid $12,500 for a Rolls-Royce at a cheribus means and would be stored to the stored charity auction and would rather drive her compact.

Mrs. Von Weise was one of the bidders at the Camelot auction, an annual evene benefitting the arts and education council of Greater St. Louis.

She raised her hand when the bid went to $12,500 Satur-day night but didn't realize no one would bid any higher. When the bidding stopped and she was the new owner of the donated 1968 Rolls Royce, she efused to sign.

"No way, no way," she said. "It's all a big mistake. We didn't buy it. Period." After some consultation the judges awarded the car to six department stores executives who had bid on the car jointly

The new drug drug associate professor of surgery at Johns Hopkins University, said Monday that the new drug overcomes problems of standard drugs such as heparin which cannot be used for extended periods because they become increasingly difficult to control.

The new drug is "an efficient and relatively safe" anti-clotting agent in such cases, Dr. White told the American College of Surgeons clinical congress here.

Dr. White said he became interested in the clotting prob-lem after experiments with a plastic membrane that could protect guinea pigs underwater by permitting them to extract oxygen from the wafer. Such a membrane might eventually be able to provide an artificial lung for persons with breathing prob-lems, Dr. White said.

However, Dr. White said re-searchers had already learned that blood clots occur during extended use of the

Pill Linked With Strokes

VANCOUVER (CP) — A neurologist says oral contraceptives should not be prescribed for women with recurrent headaches. Dr. James Toole, chief of neurology at a North Carolina medical school, spoke to the Congress of Neurosurgeons held in Vancouver.

Toole said a study published last year showed that women who take the pill are nine times more likely to have a stroke than those who don't. Women who suffer from re-curring headaches run a much higher risk of strokes, he said. Although the in-cidence of stokes in young

Toole said that although the mechanism by which the pill causes strokes is unknown, the connection is established. Toole also told the congress that a preoccupation with new surgical procedures and exotic diagnostic techniques has blinded many doctors to the virtues of older methods.

He said the most important diagnostic technique is an accurate patient history, followed by skilled use of a stethoscope.

Toole was particularly criti-cal of indiscriminate use of angiography, in which dye is injected in an artery so blood vessels to the brain will show up on the x-rays.

He said the angiography technique was expensive and painful, and carried a sub-stantial risk of serious compli-cations. He noted that 40 per cent of the angiograms turn out to be negative, showing the procedure is used too

Dr. John Tew of Chreinnati told the congress that strokes can be prevented by surgically repairing the brain's blood vessels to restore circulation.
Tew cautioned the procedures were still experimental.

A full-scale controlled study is planned for 20 to 30 hospitals this year.

Major strokes are often preceded by a series of mini-strokes, Tew said. A small blood clot or fatty deposit accumulates in arteries serving the brain. A patient might feel numbness for an hour, but recover the same day. Such patients could be helped surgically if x-rays of the blood yessels show the damage can be repaired.

Robert Ojemann of Mas sachusetts general hospital said similar work is feasible when x-rays indicate blockage low enough in the artery for a surgeon to get at it without damaging other brain struc-

Canada 'Model' Choice

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada is the logical choice to develop an environmentally-sound industrial system based on primary industries that is a model for the rest of the world, a member of the Club of Rome said Monday.

Dr. Pierre Gendron of Montreal told the Canadian Chemical Engineering Conference it is Canada's national destiny, gives its natural and human resources, to develop the technology to help overcome worldwide energy, food and environment problems.

"I can't think of a country better suited," said Dr. Gendron, a chemist and one of a handful of Canadians who are members of the elite group of specialists concerned global problems.

However, this goal wouldn't tional objectives set out by the federal government, said Dr. Gendron who attended a Club of Rome meeting last week in Berlin.

What was needed was more conservation-minded uses for the country's natural re-sources and highly-efficient innovations in technological processes involving the oil, mining, forestry and agricul-tural industries.

NEW SKILLS NEEDED

Dr. Gendron, president of the Pulp and Paper Institute of Canada, also said a specialized technology based on recycling resources and improved use of industrial byproducts should be developed.

Landlords Plan Rent Retaliation

By PAUL MOSS Times Staff

Apartment 'owners in the Greater Victoria area will join other B.C. landlords in some form of retaliatory action unless the provincial gov-ernment acts this week to lift the rent freeze, a spokesman said today.

Gordon Reeson, president of the Greater Victoria Apartment Owners Association representing the owners of 12,000 suites, said the action oould include withholding suites that become vacant, and refusing to pay increases in Hydro bills.

"Obviously this (holding back vacant suites) will hurt us still further and it's not something we're anxious to do

EDMONTON - The Alberta government is prepared to alter petroleum royalty struc-tures should Ottawa press forward with its contentious re-source taxation proposals, two provincial cabinet ministers said here Monday.

The ministers said Alberta The ministers said Alberta has not softened in its opposition to the tax measures contained in the May 6 budget. But they told a news conference that the "health" of the petroleum industry willtake precedence over principle should Ottawa re-introduce the same proposals in a new budget expected in mid-November.

The statement by Inter-Don Getty and provincial treasurer Gordon Miniely followed an hour-long meeting here with federal Finance Minister John Turner.

The Alberta reaction to the meetings with Turner was in sharp contrast to a similar session only hours earlier in Victoria with B.C. Premier Dave Barrett.

Barrett was intransigent in his opposition to the federal governmental Affairs Minister

He said B.C. would not withdraw or change its newly imposed mining royalties, re-gardless of what the new federal budget proposes. "Our measures must stay," Barrett said, adding that he believed the resource industries were being under-taxed.

Apartment owners in the Greater Victoria area will join other B.C. landlords in some form of retaliatory action unless the provincial gov-ernment acts this week to lift the rent freeze, a spokesman

Gordon Reeson, president of the Greater Victoria Apart-ment Owners Association representing the owners of 12,000 suites, said the action could include withholding suites that become vacant, in Hydro bills.

"Obviously this (holding back vacant suites) will hurt us still further and it's not something we're anxious to do at all," he said.

But we have bent over backwards to try and co-operate with the government in this situation and it hasn't

Cheque Out For Peppi

CALGARY- (CP) Eight-year-old Peppi Her-ron is believed to be the only dog in Canada with a chequing account.

Pepi, a white poodle owned by retired oil com-pany president Bill Herron, signs his cheques with his right paw—the authorized signature on file in bank records.

Herron opened Peppi's bank account four years ago. He can't remember why he did it but believes it was because the dog was winning so much money from him at gin rummy that he felt Peppi. should have somewhere to

Since then Peppi has been stamping his paw print on cheques, paying his veterinary fees, city li-cence fees and his bills at the Poodle Parlor.

"He doesn't have a lot of money in there," Her-ron said. "It's usually just a token amount.
